Dear Esteemed Guests,

It is my pleasure to welcome you to the 7th Annual Long Island Legacy Gala sponsored by the Islip Town Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. This afternoon we remember the life of Keith Allison, our beloved Executive Committee member who lost his life to complications of COVID-19. We also honor the courageous journey of our Keynote Speaker Yance Ford, whose filmmaking not only made us personally proud, but humanized the plight of African-American families in a way that no film has before.

As you may know, the Legacy Gala purposes to celebrate those who have created legacies on Long Island or who have continued the legacy of another. This afternoon, we are blessed to honor several outstanding individuals who have dedicated their lives to the human rights agenda.

Now, more than ever, those of us who believe in the dignity of every beating heart, must stand firm in our beliefs and actively claim liberty, equality and justice for all. This means holding our government, companies, organizations and families accountable of constant change towards these tenets in how we function, talk and believe. Work diligently my brothers and sisters; the accountability is needed NOW and accountability towards real change always begins with YOU.

For Advancement,

William Mossille

President and Co-Chair

Long Island Legacy Keynote Speaker

Yance Ford Producer, Writer, Artist

Yance Ford is an artist working in film based in New York City.

His debut film Strong Island won a Sundance Film Festival Special Jury Prize and the Gotham Award for Best Documentary and the Black Film Critics Circle Award for Best Doc.

Strong Island was nominated for Best Documentary Feature at the 90th Academy Awards, where Ford made history as the first openly transgender director nominated for the Oscar.

Strong Island won the Primetime Emmy for Exceptional Merit in Documentary Filmmaking.

Ford is also a former Series Producer of the PBS documentary series POV. His curatorial work there was recognized with 5 Emmy Awards and 16 Emmy nominations.

Ford is a MacDowell fellow, a member of the Sundance Institute Collective and was awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship in 2019.

Steven Bellone COUNTY EXECUTIVE

January 17, 2021

Dear Friends,

It is my pleasure to welcome you to the Islip Town Branch of the NAACP's Annual Legacy Gala.

In the year ahead, celebrating the long-standing work of the NAACP in Suffolk County is one of the most important things we can do for ourselves, for our neighbors, and for our community. As we continue to navigate the coronavirus pandemic, it is an honor to call this extraordinary organization a partner in our collective efforts to combat the devastating effects that COVID-19 has had on the African American community.

As we approach Martin Luther King Jr. Day, it is important we take a moment to celebrate his life and achievements as a pioneering civil rights leader. While the past year proved challenging, Dr. King's work lay the groundwork for how we now can join together and make significant progress despite these trying circumstances. I am certain we will build a safer, more prosperous, and more just Suffolk County.

In this spirit, it is fitting to acknowledge and congratulate tonight's honorees and respective leaders, including my good friend and colleague Sheriff Errol Toulon. As the first countywide non-judicial African American elected official, Sheriff Toulon has exemplified impeccable leadership and ingenuity during his short time in office. His success in keeping the Sheriff Department safe from COVID-19 and prioritizing the needs of those he serves should be of no surprise.

I would also be remiss if I did not take this moment to remember Investigator Sergeant Keith Allison, who tragically passed away from COVID-19 unexpectedly and all too soon. Sgt. Allison embodied the very best of Suffolk County, and what we should all strive to be. As a beloved member of the Islip Branch's Executive Board, former Riverhead Correctional Facility officer, and pioneer through his work as the only African-American Investigator Sgt. in the Suffolk County Sheriff's Office, he will be sorely missed and long-remembered.

On behalf of the 1.5 million residents of Suffolk County, I again extend my gratitude and congratulations to Sheriff Toulon, as well as to the Islip Branch of the NAACP, and to all of those who made tonight's gala possible.

Have a healthy and safe New Year!

Sincerely,

STEVEN BELLONE Suffolk County Executive

Honorable Errol Toulon Suffolk County Sheriff

Errol Toulon, Jr. has 30 years of criminal-justice experience, heavily centered upon corrections intelligence and combating gang violence both inside and outside of correctional facilities.

His criminal justice experience commenced with 22 years as a uniformed Member of Service with the New York City Correction Department, where he served as a supervisor and instructor at the Correction Academy, the Firearms and Tactics Unit, Emergency Service Unit and Office of Compliance Consultants.

Errol then spent two years serving the constituents of Suffolk County as the Assistant Deputy County Executive for Public Safety under the administration of County Executive Steve Bellone, where he supervised eight public-safety departments, including the Suffolk County Police Department and the Department of Fire, Rescue, and Emergency services, as well as the Medical Examiner's Office.

In July of 2014, Errol was named Deputy Commissioner of Operations for the New York City Correction Department. During his two and a half year tenure as Deputy Commissioner, he oversaw the Applicant Investigation Unit, Training Academy, Correction Intelligence Bureau, Emergency Preparedness and the Policy and Procedures Unit.

Errol is certified through the Department of Homeland Security in Emergency Planning, Radiological Emergency Management, Incident Response to Terrorist Bombing, WMD Threat and Risk Assessment and State Disaster Management. In addition, Dr. Toulon is certified to teach Weapons of Mass Destruction Awareness, NIMS, Domestic Terrorism and Hate Crimes. He received his Master's degree in Business Administration from Dowling College, an Advanced Certificate in Homeland Security Management from Long Island University, recently completed his Doctorate in Educational Administration and attended leadership courses at JFK School of Government at Harvard University.

Errol is a two time cancer survivor recovering from lymphoma as well as pancreatic cancer. His battles with cancer have inspired him to further dedicate his life to helping others.

Long Island Legacy Award Winner

Joysetta Pearse

Curator and Historian

Joysetta Pearse was born in 1938 in Brooklyn, NY. She became interested in genealogy after attending a lecture given by Dr. James Rose, the first person to receive a PhD in Genealogy. Joysetta knew she wanted to investigate her own family, particularly her grandparents. Her grandfather was Irish, and her grandmother was African American. Her grandfather was disowned by his family when he married her grandmother, so Joysetta wished to know more about them.

Joysetta's grandfather's father, Daniel Mooney, was born in County Terrone, Cookstown in Derrylawn Parish in Ireland.

Joysetta's grandmother, (Martha) Etta Mooney, was an orphan: she grew up in Canarsie before moving to Weeksville and Atlantic Avenue. Etta's mother died when she was eight and her father died shortly thereafter. Her father had worked on the railroad, but could sing as well. She had a brother and a sister, but after her parents died she was taken in as a scullery maid by a foster family. Joysetta remembers her grandmother telling her about waking up at 5:30 in the morning to do chores for her foster family. When she was 13, Etta Mooney started to sing in church, as well as sing the blues. She was one of the first female blues singers to be recorded: in 1921, she worked for Harry Pace who owned Black Swan Records in Astoria, NY. Recordings of hers that survive include "Early Monday Morning Blues" and "Hoochie Coochie".

Barbara Dunmore Ford Lifelong Educator and Community Advocate

Barbara Dunmore Ford was born and raised in Charleston, South Carolina the beloved daughter of the late George and Earline Dunmore. She married her grade-school sweetheart, William Ford, in 1965, moving with him to Brooklyn, New York, to begin a prominent and accomplished career as an educational innovator. Mrs. Ford began her career with New York City Public School System as an English Teacher.

Some thirty-three years later she had served as Assistant Principal and Principal of Brooklyn's Thomas Jefferson High School and the Founding Principal of Rosewood High School, a school for adjudicated women and girls that is housed on Rikers Island.

Her career was accented with the design and implementation of numerous instructional programs that have supported the development of the children and greater educational community of Central Islip.

Of noteworthy mention is her service as Deputy Parks Commissioner for the Town of Islip where she oversaw the renovation of the fields and courts of the Central Islip Recreation Center. Mrs. Ford earned her Bachelor of Arts degree at Benedict College in Charleston, South Carolina and a Master of Science degree and a Professional Diploma in Education Administration and Supervision at Long Island University C.W. Post College.

Mrs. Ford was a valued member of the Central Islip community. A resident since 1972, she was an active participant in many organizations of which there are too numerous to name. Dear to her heart, however, were her positions as Usher, Hope Missionary Baptist Church; Board Member, Central Islip Civic Council; and Co-Founder, Central Islip Coalition of Good Neighbors.

NAACP STRATEGIC PLAN: GAME CHANGERS FOR THE 21ST CENTURY

In the fall of 2011, the NAACP launched a process to develop its strategic direction and plan, creating a powerful vision for the future, and setting organizational goals that would focus its work for the 21st Century.

The six NAACP Game Changers below address the major areas of inequality facing African Americans that are the focus of the NAACP's work.

Economic Sustainability

A chance to live the American Dream for all Every person will have equal opportunity to achieve economic success, sustainability, and financial security. Learn more.

Education

A free, high-quality, public education for all Every child will receive a free, high quality, equitably-funded, public pre-K and K-12 education followed by diverse opportunities for accessible, affordable vocational or university education. Learn more.

Health

Health equality for all Americans including a healthy life and high-quality health care

Everyone will have equal access to affordable, high-quality health care, and racially disparate health outcomes will end. Learn more.

Public Safety and Criminal Justice

Equitable dispensation of justice for all

Disproportionate incarceration, racially motivated policing strategies, and racially biased, discriminatory, and mandatory minimum sentencing will end. Incarceration will be greatly reduced and communities will be safer. The death penalty will be abolished at the state and federal level, as well as in the military. Learn more.

Voting Rights and Political Representation

Protect and enhance voting rights and fair representation Every American will have free, open, equal, and protected access to the vote and fair representation at all levels of the political process. By protecting democracy, enhancing equity, and increasing democratic participation and civic engagement, African Americans will be proportionally elected to political office. Learn more.

Expanding Youth and Young Adult Engagement

The NAACP is expanding the presence of youth consciousness in every aspect of the Association through significant attention to expanding engagement with key age demographic (1979 and after). Young adult engagement will be key in policy research, development and advocacy on all levels. Greater support is being made to enhance the capacity of local units to recruit, engage, train and retain young adults. Innovative approaches are being taken on young adult membership and program engagement. Learn more.
